

GOYA FOODS DONATES 100,000 POUNDS OF FOOD TO THE COMMUNITY FOODBANK OF NEW JERSEY AS PART OF THE GOYA GIVES 'CAN DO' CAMPAIGN

Jersey City, New Jersey (March 13, 2018) – Goya Foods donated 100,000 pounds of food to the Community FoodBank of New Jersey as part of the Goya Gives 'Can Do' campaign and in the name of Goya retailer Twin City. The donation is part of the first installment of the 1.5 million pounds of food (1.25 million meals) raised over the course of six months that will go to Feeding America and will be distributed to families and individuals throughout the United States.

"The Can Do campaign is one of the many ways that Goya gives back and helps to bring people together to do good for our communities," said Bob Unanue, President of Goya Foods. "We are grateful for the work of our local food banks who have the means to distribute good food to those who lack the access to nutritious, affordable and culturally appropriate meals."

On Tuesday, March 13, 2018, Goya, New Jersey Devils, and Prudential Center employees, along with Devils Alumni members, teamed up at the Community FoodBank of New Jersey for their annual Day of Service. Thirty employees from the two organizations worked together to sort and bag a portion of Goya's donation of 100,000 pounds of food, equal to over 83,000 meals that will be distributed to Newark area families in need.

"Goya's generous donation will help us to better serve people of different cultural backgrounds throughout New Jersey," said Karen Leies, Vice President of Development at the Community FoodBank of New Jersey. "Our long-standing partnership with Goya, New Jersey Devils, and the Prudential Center is invaluable, and their annual day of service is such a meaningful event for CFBNJ and the people we serve."

The 'Can Do' campaign is a yearlong series of consumer product promotions that was launched in June 2017 and ends June 2018. Each month throughout the course of the year, Goya has featured a different product that consumers can purchase to participate in the overall donation. For every GOYA® product purchased during the designated month, Goya will donate additional products to Feeding America.
